International Journal of Intelligence Ethics

The purpose of the International Journal of Intelligence Ethics (IJIE) is to be a primary source for multidisciplinary information and research on the role of ethics in its application to intelligence activities. IJIE seeks high-quality articles, from both a practical and theoretical framework, on the role of ethics in the full spectrum of intelligence activities, including collection, analysis and covert action. Intelligence activities from both a national security and law enforcement perspective will be covered.

The IJIE is a peer-reviewed journal. Submissions should be between 5,000 to 10,000 words, although longer submissions will be considered. The journal follows the current edition of The Chicago Manual of Style. Submissions must be sent to journal@intelligence-ethics.org.
